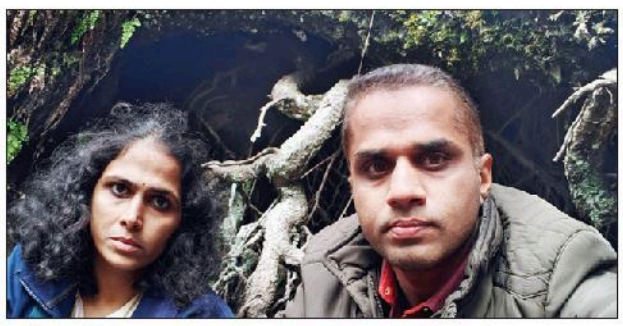
Pahalgam terror attack

'Scarred forever'

Survivor from Mysuru recounts horror



A terrifying moment soon after the Pahalgam terror attack, where Mysurean Prasanna Kumar Bhat and his wife Rajni Kulkarni were hiding in a pit.

Mysuru, Apr. 27 (BCT)- Amidst nationwide outrage over the Pahalgam terrorist attack in Kashmir, a survivor from Mysuru has shared a harrowing account of survival.

Prasanna Kumar Bhat, a Senior Engineering Manager and a resident of Jayalakshmipuram, was among hundreds of tourists enjoying the breathtaking beauty of the Baisaran meadow in Pahalgam.

Sharing his ordeal with Star of Mysore, he described how what began as a peaceful retreat with his wife, brother and sister-in-law descended into a nightmare.

The attack claimed the lives of 26 tourists who were mercilessly shot dead after terrorists questioned them about their religion.

"We can only describe the incident as a monstrous act that painted the heavenly beauty of Baisaran blood-red with hellfire. By the grace of God, luck and the quick thinking of my brother, who is a senior Army Officer, not only our lives but the lives of another 35-40 people were saved that day," he said.

IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE: As children, we live in a world of wonderment, where every experience is a new adventure. However, as we grow into adults, the monotony of daily life often dulls our sense of awe. It is time to reclaim that wonderment and live more fulfilling lives, said Swami Mitrananda.

Consider the simple act of enjoying a handful of curd rice. Behind this everyday pleasure lies a complex web of factors: farms providing raw materials, roads connecting them to markets, storage facilities holding ingredients, and kitchen preparing the final dish. The same is true of every desire we fulfil. However, the process does not end there. Once we eat, our body works tirelessly to convert food into energy, repairing and growing tissues. This intricate dance of digestion, absorption and cellular processes is a marvel in itself. Reflecting on the countless desires fulfilled since childhood, it is astonishing to think of the Lord's orchestration. Connecting people, resources and circumstances to meet our needs is a wonder. The Bhagavad Gita describes the atman as a wonder, beyond human comprehension.

Let us rediscover wonderment in our lives. By embracing awe and gratitude, we can live more happily. As the verse 29 in Chapter 2 of the Gita says, "Ashcharya vat pashyati kashchid enan ashcharya vad vadati tathaiva chanyah ashcharya vach chainam anyah shrinoti shrutvapyenam veda na chaiva kashchit" (Some see the atman as wonder, some describe it as wonderment, and some hear of the atman as wonder.)

Let us bring back that sense of wonder and live life to the fullest. — In The Hindu

Woman catches herpes by holding mic

Beijing: A woman claims that she caught the herpes virus by holding the microphone too close to her mouth at a karaoke lounge.

The unnamed woman took to social media to share the story of how she became infected with the HSV-1 virus, which usually causes cold sores around the mouth, eight years ago. In 2017, she visited a karaoke lounge in Zhejiang, China, and got a bit carried away during her performance, holding the microphone much closer to her mouth than she should have.

Sometime later, tiny, pustulent blisters appeared around her mouth, but although they were painful and itchy, she didn't pay too much attention to them, and they eventually went away. Only they came back in a matter of days, and this time, the woman sought medical attention and learned that she had somehow contracted the HSV-1 herpes virus.

Man buys back his own stolen car

Solihull: A British man who paid more than 26,000 dollars to replace his stolen car later discovered he had unknowing bought his own vehicle back.

Ewan Valentine, 36, from Solihull, England, said his black 2016 Honda Civic Type-R had been stolen from its overnight parking space on Feb. 28.

Valentine said he was distraught about the loss and hoped to replace the car with a nearly-identical vehicle. "Sure enough, I found one for sale. Same colour, same year, same custom exhaust system," he wrote on social media.

He took the vehicle to a Honda dealership, where technicians confirmed the VIN was a fake and the car was indeed stolen from Valentine. The car is being investigated by Police and will then be turned over to Valentine's insurance company.

Closure of Government Public Libraries in Mysuru

Sir,

The Government Public Libraries, numbering more than 10 in Mysuru, are closed for nearly 40 days starting from Apr. 15, 2025 stating Books verification, Audit etc. The newspaper section is also closed from 10 am to 5.30 pm on all the days.

With this kind of closures, the Library will be closed for public for more than 140 days in a year. No Government Office will be closed for public on account of any Audit / Stock verification etc.

As newspaper sections are utilised by students / user public and newspapers are to be read on day to day basis, how can the newspaper sections remain closed for more than 2 to 3 days continuously and more than 8 days in a month and more than 140 days in a year?

In Bengaluru, the newspaper sections of Central Public Libraries work on all the 365 days without any holidays.

The Deputy Director of Libraries in Mysuru had stated about two years ago that the facility of newspapers will be made available to public on all 365 days, as demanded by the public / tax payers. Although, two years have lapsed, no such action is initiated till today.

I request the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner to take a call on the above issues and initiate necessary action, immediately in the interest of user public.

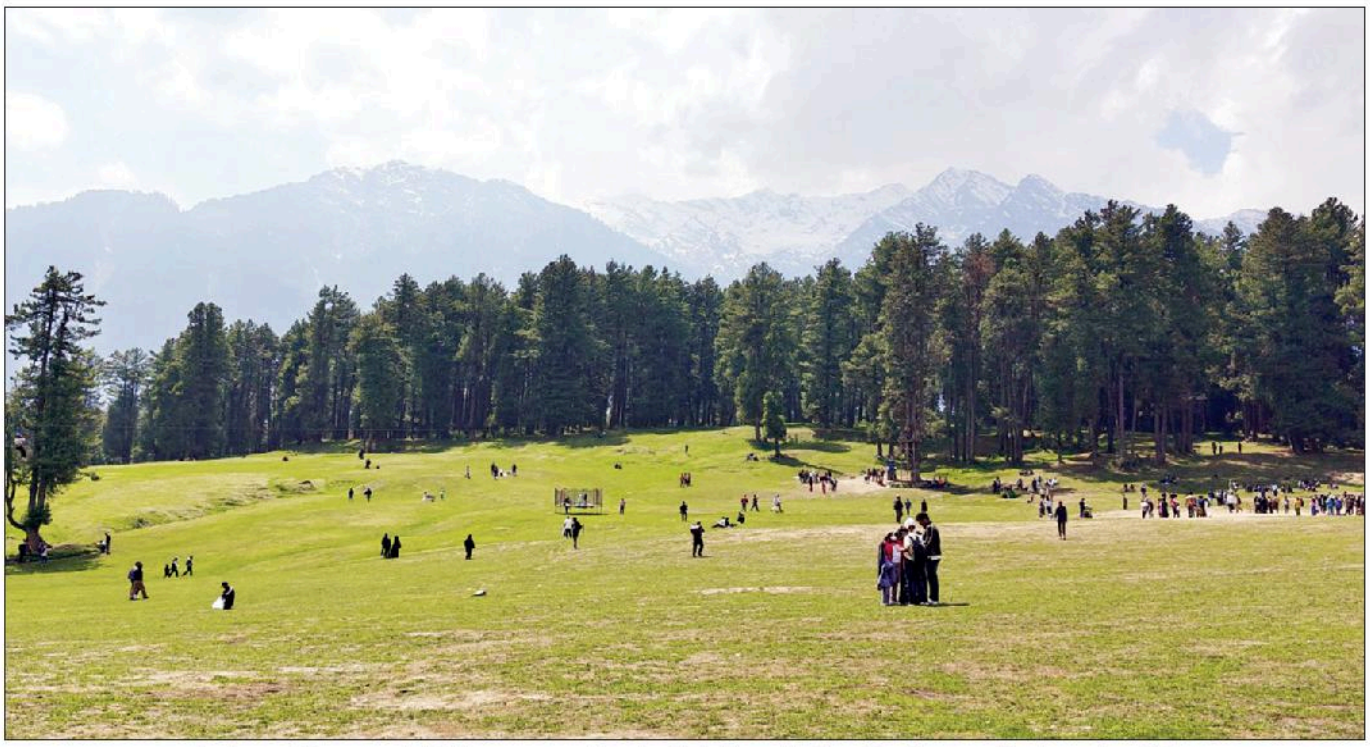
Survivor from Mysuru recounts horror



A view of the scenic Baisaran meadow in Pahalgam before the terror attack on Apr. 22.

> "On Apr. 22, around 2.25 pm, we heard the first two gunshots ring out loudly. Everyone struggled to comprehend what had happened while children continued playing. For many, it must have been the first time hearing the terrifying sound of shots fired from an AK-47."

"We had postponed our trip by two days due to bad weather. We left Mysuru on Apr. 16 and aimed to cover Pahalgam during our eight-day trip — what turned out to be the fateful day. Little did we know the ramifications of that one decision."

"There were four of us that day — my wife Rajni Kulkarni, my brother and my sister-in-law. We travelled from Srinagar to Pahalgam by car. My brother was on vacation," said Prasanna Kumar Bhat.

First AK-47 gunshots at 2.25 pm

"We reached Pahalgam town around 12.30 pm on Tuesday, Apr. 22, and took the pony ride to Baisaran Valley, reaching there by 1.35 pm. We entered through the main gate like everyone else and headed to one of the cafes set up to the left of the entrance," he recounted.

"Taken in by the majestic views and landscape, we enjoyed a cup of tea and 'kawa', soaking in the scenery. At 2 pm, we got up to take a stroll and click some photos."

"By sheer luck, we moved in the direction opposite the entrance. Barely a few minutes later, around 2.25 pm, we heard the first two gunshots ring out loudly. A moment of pin-drop silence followed, as everyone struggled to comprehend what had happened. Children, still oblivious, continued playing, enjoying the best picnic of their lives. For many, it must have been the first time hearing the terrifying sound of shots fired from an AK-47," he revealed.

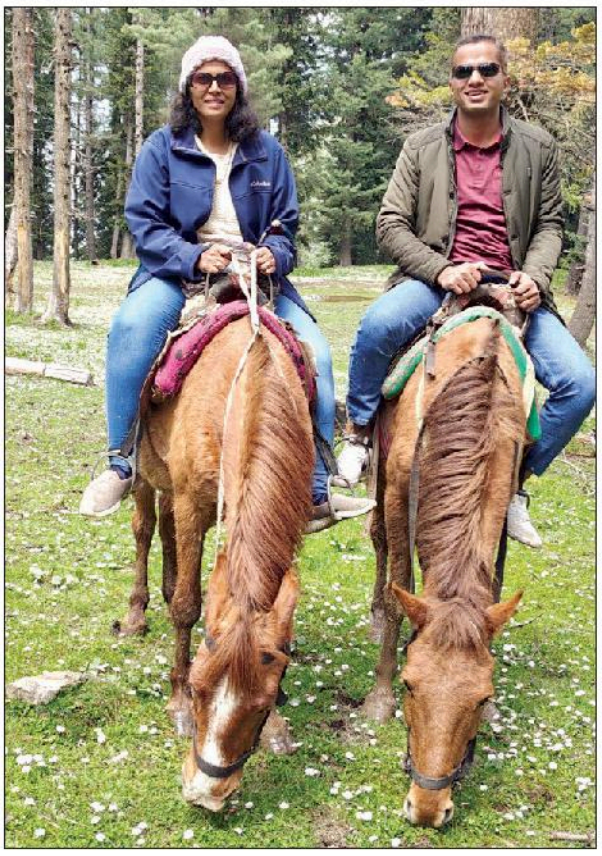
"We sprinted to the nearest cover — behind a mobile toilet unit installed roughly 400 meters from the entrance. From there, I could see two bodies already lying on the ground. My brother immediately realised it was a terrorist attack. Then the hellfire truly began — gunshots in bursts, chaos everywhere."

Screams fill the air

"A cacophony of screams filled the air as the crowd ran desperately for their lives. What many videos don't capture is that the entire meadow is fenced, offering little room to escape. Most of the crowd, unaware, rushed toward the main gate, where the terrorists were already waiting, like sheep running to a tiger."

"We saw a terrorist approaching in our direction. Without hesitation, we ran the other way and, fortunately, found a narrow opening under the fence. Most of the people hiding with us slid through it and began running in the opposite direction — away from the killing field," he said.

"My Army officer brother and his wife took cover near the mobile toilet. He managed to calm down the people gathered nearby. Quickly assessing the situation, he realised that the firing was coming from the entry point. Without wasting time, he guided us, and around 35-40 tourists, in opposite direction."



Prasanna Kumar Bhat and his wife Rajni Kulkarni on a pony ride during their vacation in Kashmir.

> "We were in shock. Our senses were numb with the sound of gunfire and scenes of horror playing on a loop in our minds. We saw people covered in blood being carried away. A flood of emotions and disbelief gripped us, unable to fully comprehend what had unfolded.

Shelter in a drain pipe

"Fortunately, we found an opening in the fence near a nala (a drainage pipe). He led us and the others through the gap, urging everyone not to bunch up, and instructed us to run downhill, away from the gunfire. It was a sloping patch with a water stream flowing through it, offering some level of protection from direct line of sight."

"The muddy slope was extremely slippery. Many slipped while trying to run, but everyone somehow managed to get back up and run for their lives. It was terrifying, knowing that no place felt safe and that anything could happen in the next moment."

"Imagine the horror of having children and elderly people scattered among the crowd, not knowing where they were or whether they were safe. Words cannot describe the terror and helplessness we felt. The worst part was the complete absence of mobile network coverage in the area — we had no way to alert the Police or call for help."

Army personnel arrive

"We four managed to find cover in a narrow pit under some trees a few hundred metres away, desperately praying for our lives."

"The gunshots continued to echo through the valley for half an hour, until about 3 pm. Around 2.45 pm, my brother managed to alert the Army unit stationed in Pahalgam and the Army headquarters in Srinagar about the terrorist attack."

"We stayed put in that pit for an hour, petrified, hopeless and unsure whether we should stay hidden or try to run again," Prasanna Kumar recalled.

"All the while, thoughts of our little children and parents left behind at home weighed heavily on our hearts, along with the overwhelming fear of not knowing when — or if — this ordeal would end."

"At around 3.40 pm, we heard the first sound of helicopters — the first sign that help was on its way. By 4 pm, we spotted soldiers from the Special Forces and the Army. We heaved a massive sigh of relief. They spotted us, realised we were tourists and assured us that the entire perimeter had been secured and it was now safe to walk down the hill."

Scarred for life

"We were still in shock — our senses numb — with the sound of gunfire and scenes of horror playing on a loop in our minds. As we walked down, we saw people covered in blood being carried away. A flood of emotions and disbelief gripped us, unable to fully comprehend what had unfolded in the last two hours."

"It is beyond words to describe the sheer brutality of the monsters who took the lives of innocent people, many of them in front of their loved ones. Even today, the sound of those gunshots still echoes in our ears. The terror still makes my gut wrench."

"This incident has left a permanent scar — a memory that will never fade — of the dark reality hidden beneath Kashmir's beauty. It is painful to see such horror unfold in our own country. I pray no one ever has to experience such terror in their lives."

"I want to express my heartfelt gratitude to my brother and to the entire Indian Army — because of them, we are alive to narrate this incident and be reunited with our family. My family and I are now safely back home in Mysuru," he recounted.

MUDA scraps affordable Group Housing Scheme

MUDA backs out of ambitious middle-class housing scheme despite 26,000 applications in demand survey

By S.T. Ravikumar

A model of the Group Housing project displayed at the MUDA Office. The project was limited to publicity only.

Mysuru, Apr. 27- The dreams of countless citizens hoping to secure a site or house in Mysuru have once again been shattered as the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) has decided to call off the Group Housing Scheme. Despite farmers parting with their lands for urban expansion and despite the creation of planned residential layouts, MUDA has failed to fulfil its primary mission: Allocating sites fairly.

Applicants, who have dutifully waited for years and applied multiple times, were promised site distribution based on seniority (number of attempts) and eligibility. However, the dream of building a home remains elusive for thousands.

Instead of conducting spot inspections of applicants' residences to verify whether they truly lack a home — and whether they or their parents or spouses already own property elsewhere in the State — MUDA has allowed loopholes to prevail, leaving eligible citizens disillusioned.

Earlier, acquiring land for forming layouts was relatively simple and cost-effective. However, following the 2013 amendment to the Land Acquisition Act, the process has become increasingly complicated.

Hefty compensation mandated for landowners — combined with the soaring costs of developing layouts — has made it impossible to allot sites to the public at affordable rates.

Why Group Housing Scheme?

With skyrocketing land prices making it impossible for MUDA to purchase even an inch of land around Mysuru, the Authority came up with a bold solution: Construct multi-storeyed apartment complexes on lands of 5, 10 and 12 acres.

The plan was to build between 300 and 400 one, two and three-bedroom Group Housing units in each complex, offering them to the middle class at cost-effective, no-profit-no-loss prices.

MUDA had prepared a Detailed Project Report (DPR) for this scheme by spending crores of rupees — taxpayers' money. The plan was approved by MUDA's Board and received administrative sanction from the Government as well.

Overwhelming public response

During a Group Housing demand survey conducted by MUDA, as many as 26,000 applications poured in from people, firmly establishing that there is intense public demand.

Encouraged by the overwhelming public response, MUDA drew up grand plans to build a 12-storey residential complex in Vijayanagar Fourth Stage, Second Phase.

Using shear wall technology, the Rs. 250-crore project aimed to construct and allot 560 housing units. MUDA had even earmarked Rs. 40 crore for the project in 2024-25 budget.

While 26,000 applications were received just for housing units, a staggering 80,000 applications have been pending for MUDA sites for the past 30 years and many applicants have passed away.

Recognising the impossibility of acquiring new land from farmers at today's sky-high rates — and the unaffordable costs involved in developing layouts under the 50:50 formula — MUDA had shifted focus to building Group Housing on the land it already owned.

However, even this ambitious plan has now been quietly buried. This year's MUDA budget makes no mention of the Group Housing Project.

Only for publicity

Ironically, MUDA had proudly showcased a model of the proposed high-rise apartments during the grand Dasara Vijayadashami procession and continues to display it at its JLB Road premises — a silent reminder of what could have been.

Before planning this project, MUDA officials had even visited similar multi-storeyed housing complexes built by the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) in Bengaluru, gathering detailed information with the intent of replicating that success in Mysuru. Despite the groundwork, the Group Housing dream now stands as a neglected relic.

Land for Intl. Cricket stadium in Mysuru

MP Yaduveer overjoyed

Mysuru, Apr. 27 (PM&BS)- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Wadiyar has welcomed the decision of the recent Special Cabinet Meeting held at M.M. Hills in Chamarajanagar district to allocate land for the proposed international cricket stadium at Huyilalu village in the outskirts of Mysuru city.

In a press release, Wadiyar has stated that, Mysureans since long were waiting to watch international cricket matches in the city. But, the process made by Karnataka State Cricket Association (KSCA) to build a cricket stadium in the city had faced hurdles.

"With the intention of infusing a new life to the proposal, I had met CM Siddaramaiah and District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda and Chief Secretary Dr. Shalini Rajaneesh and had submitted a memorandum. Now, the proposal that was on the backburner has gained momentum, with the first phase of work related to allotment of land completed. Steps will be taken towards expediting the process related to acquisition of land and other works," said Wadiyar.

The cricket stadium in the cultural capital of Mysuru should be a reality and ask the cooperation of all by joining hands, said Wadiyar, describing the stadium as his aim in consonance with the dream of Mysureans.

Bhagini Sangeethotsava: Day-2

Emphasising clarity and refinement...

Vid. G. Ravikiran from Chennai presenting vocal concert at BSS Vidyodaya on Day-2 of Bhagini Sangeethotsava 2025 on Apr. 24. He is accompanied by Keshava Mohankumar on violin, B.S. Prashanth on mridanga and Sharath Kaushik on ghata.

On the second day of Bhagini Sangeethotsava, Vid. G. Ravikiran from Chennai gave a vocal concert with Keshava Mohankumar from Mysuru on violin, B.S. Prashanth on mridanga and Sharath Kaushik on ghata.

Ravikiran is a disciple of R.K. Srikanthan and T.M. Krishna but the influence of the latter shows more in his singing. A great fan of Sri Muthuswami Dikshitar, Ravikiran has founded 'Guruguhamruta,' a Trust dedicated to popularisation and propagation of Dikshitar compositions.

Ravikiran is always good in selecting the compositions for his concerts. Rising to the occasion, he had chosen a handful of divine compositions on Lord Rama. The opening composition 'TuLasi daLa mula che' in Mayamalavagowla was a good choice to begin with. The charana part 'Sarasiruha punnAga champaka pATala' saw kalpana swaras filled with raga bhava. After a quick 'ChalamElarA sAkEta RAma by Sri Tyagaraja in Margahindola, Harikambhoji was taken up for detailed rendition. He adopted a relaxed tempo, emphasising clarity and speed in the alapana and Keshava's reply was confident and emotive. The composition as expected was Sri Tyagaraja's 'Dinamani Vamsha tilaka lAvaNya.' The swarakalpana explored the depths of the raga and was therefore appealing, though he did not opt for complicated calculations, in spite of his potential.

Sri Tyagaraja's evergreen kriti 'NagumOmu galalEni', the beautiful appealing composition 'Hecharika gA rA RA he RAmachandra' in Yadukulakambhoji and the pleasing 'VAchAmagOcharame' in a rare raga Kaikavashi were all great fillers.

The toast of the evening was Thodi, which was dealt with in detail. The ragalapana steeped in unalloyed classicism was adorned with powerful gamakas, without overdoing brigas or frills.

Keshava's rendition of Thodi was equally brilliant. It is a pleasure to watch this boy from the HKN school grow tall in the field. The rendition of 'Enduku dayarAdurA Sri RAmachandra' by Sri Tyagaraja set to Mishra chapu tala with an expansive neraval at 'Tyagarajavinuta tArakacharita' was clear diction and the swarakalpana was very pleasing without too much of technicality or Arithmetics.

B.S. Prashanth's support on mridanga was soft but lively and his interesting exchanges with Sharath Kaushik on ghata in Taniyavartanam brought enjoyable moments in the concert.

After the Tani, the popular ragamalika 'TungAteeravirAjam' and the ever-enchanting devaranama in KApi 'JagadOddhArana' by Sri Purandara Dasaru were sung with sweet melody.

There were moments in the concert when one felt Ravikiran could go full-throat. When one learns from a Guru for a long duration, imitation perhaps becomes inevitable. Imbibing the style from the Guru is understandable but is imitation necessary? — is the big question.

It may also happen unknowingly or unintentionally. As T.M. Krishna's foremost disciple, Ravikiran brings in shades of his Guru's influence in his usage of 'l'karas in the ragalapanas, in his musical dialogue with the violinist, in his voice modulations, etc.

Ravikiran concluded the concert with the celebrated mangalam of Bhadrachala Ramadasa 'RAmachandrAya janaka'.

A mesmerising Rangapravesha of Namratha Jois in Vasundhara Bani

Namratha Jois

The Rangapravesha of Dr. Vasundhara's gifted disciple Namratha Jois commenced with Vedagosha and lamp lighting by Vid. R.S. Nandakumar followed by Dr. M. Sushila Urs, Prof. K. Ramamurthy Rao, Dr. Vasundhara Doraswamy and Mr. and Mrs. Jois.

The programme began with Melaprapthi, set to Raga nata and rupaka thala. The lightning entry to the stage by Namratha Jois made the audience feel that it will be a great evening ahead.

In Melaprapthi, Dr. Vasundhara's natuvanga and Jattis' music by Vidu. Deepthi Srinath's soulful singing, Vid. H.L. Shivashankar Swamy's perfect mridanga, flute by Vid. Jayaram Kikkeri and rythmpad by Vid. Ananth Krishna added grace to the Rangapravesha of Namratha in Vasundhara Bani.

Next, a very popular composition RaRa Rajeeva Lochana composed by Mysore Vasudevacharya in Raga Mohana set to Adi tala, was an Abhinaya-dominated kriti.

In this, Namratha Jois was able to praise Sri Rama and showcase how easily Sri Rama broke the Shivadhanush, followed by Sita Kalyana. Namratha depicted how Sri Rama was able to garland Sita Devi easily. When Lakshmana sees that Sita Devi was struggling to garland Sri Rama, he comes to the rescue of Sita and touches the feet of Sri Rama. When Sri Rama bows to bless him, Sita Devi easily garlands him. Here, the artiste showcases her devotion towards Sri Rama and Sita Devi, a piece worth watching.

The main item of the evening was Pada Varna in praise of Devi, Sridevi, Vagdevi composition of Vidushi Dwaraki Krishna Swamy set to Raga Hamsanandi and Tala Adi. The artiste's abhinaya in praise of Durga Devi, Lakshmi Devi and Saraswathi Devi in their perfect postures was worth watching. She covered the stage with her agile and graceful movements and with utmost reverence and bhakti, bows to the Devis seeking blessings.

The next item was a Devaranama Kadagola, Tharenna, Chinnave composed by Saint Purandaradasa in Raga Yamana Kalyani and Tala Adi. Here, the relationship is between the mother and child (Yashoda and Little Krishna) who is fond of fresh butter prepared by Yashoda but He seeks Kadagola instead of butter. However, Mother Yashoda yields to little Krishna's desires and hugs him.

The next episode was Demon Kalinga Mardhana (destroying the poisonous snake Demon Kalinga). Little Krishna was in a playful mood along with his team-mates and while playing, the ball fell into the pond — the resting place for Demon Kalinga Sarpa. In spite of request from his mates, he jumps into the pond. In turn, he encounters Kalinga in a fierce combat. Little Krishna kills Kalinga, the demon snake and brings peace and solace to Gokul Vasi.

Prior to concluding Thillana, Namratha Jois showed her artistic metle in Nrithyanjali Chaturashra Alaripu with Lingarashtakam and Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar's Kriti Sri Ranganatha Pahimam and Marathi Abhang.

The concluding Thillana in Raga Behag Adi tala, composed by Vid. R.S. Nandakumar, was a very rare item ever presented in Mysuru. The Thillana was full of nrittha followed by sublime abhinaya by the artiste. The final episode was the destruction of Demon king Tarakasura by little Sri Subramanya (Son of Lord Shiva).

The overall performance by the gifted Bharatanatyam artiste Namratha Jois left an impact on the dance Rasikas.

The credit to the Rangapravesha goes to Dr. Vasundhara Doraswamy, Vidu. Deepthi Srinath, Vid. H.L. Shivashankar Swamy, Vid. Jairam Kikkeri, Vid. Ananth Krishna, and, of course the gifted disciple of Dr. Vasundhara Doraswamy — Namratha Jois.

Last but not the least, compliments should go to the anchor Vid. M.S. Kaustuba, the husband of Namratha Jois.

Pahalgam terror attack

Muslim spiritual heads, leaders hold protest march in city

Mysuru, Apr. 27 (MK&VNS)- Hundreds of people belonging to Muslim community including Sir Khazi of Mysuru Maulana Md. Usman Shariff, leaders and religious heads held a protest holding candle lights against Pahalgam terror attack in city yesterday.

The protesters headed by Karnataka Exhibition Authority Chairman (KEA) Ayub Khan gathered at Milad Park located on Ashoka Road and condemned the horrific act and shouted slogans such as 'Hindustan Zindabad... Pakistan Murdabad'. Calling for a stringent action against those responsible for the inhumane act, the protesters also offered condolences to the victims of the terror attack by lighting candles.

Speaking on the occasion, the religious heads of the Muslim community said India was united in condemning such acts of terror. "Members of the Muslim community in the country will support the Central Government to initiate action against Pakistan which supports terrorism."

Ayub Khan, who spoke, demanded action against the perpetrators and said that the entire Muslim community was with the families of the victims.

"The entire Muslim community will extend support to the Central Government for initiating action against Pakistan and terrorists," he added.

"For the mistake committed by a group of four people, it is wrong to blame the entire community. The 40 crore Muslims in India are a part of 146 core population who have been condemning the attack on innocent tourists in Jammu and Kashmir", he added.

2021 Chamarajanagar oxygen tragedy

Kin to return Rs. 1 lakh relief handed over by Congress

Families upset as the issue does not figure in recent special Cabinet meeting at M.M. Hills

Chamarajanagar, Apr. 27 (SS&BS)- Over 36 COVID-19 patients lost their lives due to a lack of oxygen at Chamarajanagar District Hospital in May 2021. Now, four years later, the families of the victims, still waiting for the Government to fulfil its promises, have resolved to return the Rs. 1 lakh compensation given by the Congress.

Around 14 dependents of the deceased expressed their anguish against the State Government for not discussing their demands during the recent special Cabinet meeting at M.M. Hills.

The families submitted a memorandum to CM Siddaramaiah when he visited Chamarajanagar yesterday to lay the foundation stone for statues of eminent personalities at the District Administration Office premises. However, the CM, who received the memorandum, did not respond, further deepening the relatives' pain.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, the grieving families said, "The Congress neither kept its promise of providing Government jobs nor offered adequate compensation. They did not even show us the minimum courtesy of consoling us after receiving the memorandum. We feel deeply hurt and neglected."

Relatives of COVID-19 patients who died of oxygen shortage, seen after submitting a memorandum to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in Chamarajanagar yesterday.

'Siddaramaiah will be the reason...'

We are fed up with running from pillar to post for the past four years. We are ready to die. The BJP Government took my husband's life by failing to supply oxygen, and now the Congress Government will be the reason for my death. When we went to submit the memorandum, the CM Siddaramaiah didn't even acknowledge our plight. If we do not get justice by May 4, I will end my life and leave behind a death note holding Siddaramaiah responsible for my death.

— Nagarathna, oxygen tragedy survivor

"When their leader Rahul Gandhi visited Gundlupet during his 'Bharat Jodo Yatra', he had personally consoled the families and assured them that if the Congress came to power, one member from each of the 36 affected families would be given a Government job and adequate compensation. However, despite two years of Congress rule in Karnataka, there has been no sign of fulfilling these assurances," they said.

Crocodile tears, says survivor

Santosh from Nallur village, a survivor of the tragedy, said sarcastically, "We will respectfully return the compensation amount if the Government fails to fulfil its promises by May 4, which marks four years since the tragedy."

He added, "Now we understand that Rahul Gandhi and D.K. Shivakumar merely shed crocodile tears. We will be calling off our fight for justice from May 4."

The CM Siddaramaiah and Social Welfare Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa had also promised during a Karnataka Development Programme (KDP) meeting to treat the issue as a special case and take it up during the special Cabinet meeting. But nothing has materialised so far, the families alleged.

"The same Cabinet that approved projects worth Rs. 3,647 crore couldn't even acknowledge our pain," rued the relatives.

They pointed out that the previous BJP Government had failed them by allowing the tragedy to happen and then ignoring their demands for relief. Now, the Congress Government, despite lofty promises of justice, has also let them down.

Having lost all hope, the families have decided to return the Rs. 1 lakh compensation given by KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar after the tragedy, the relatives of victims said.

Truck driver assaults lady Sub-Inspector in Kodagu

Case ends with compromise

Murnad, Apr. 27 (PS&KS)- A woman Police Sub-Inspector (SI) was allegedly assaulted by a truck driver in the middle of the road in Murnad, Kodagu district, while transporting a suspect in a Police vehicle yesterday.

The SI, identified as Latha, is attached to the Virajpet Rural Police Station, while the accused truck driver, named Harris, was taken into custody for some time. A video of the assault has gone viral on social media.

According to reports, Latha had taken a suspect into custody and was transporting him in a Police vehicle from Virajpet to Madikeri. During the journey, she encountered a truck that was parked haphazardly, blocking the road and preventing the Police vehicle from moving.

When Latha questioned the truck driver, Harris, a verbal altercation ensued. During the exchange, Harris allegedly made derogatory remarks about Latha, which led her to reportedly assault him. In retaliation, Harris allegedly assaulted the SI.

At this point, a man who was standing outside a nearby shop intervened and took Harris inside the shop. SI Latha, accompanied by other female Police officers, followed him into the shop to bring Harris out. This confrontation was captured on video by the public and soon went viral on social media.

After the incident, SI Latha took Harris to the Murnad Sub-Police Station and informed higher-ranking officers. She later transferred him to the Madikeri Rural Police Station.

It is reported that senior Police officers intervened and resolved the matter through a compromise, allowing Harris to leave without facing further charges. Madikeri Dy.SP Sooraj stated, "It was just a minor confrontation over a traffic issue. It is not a major incident. Hence, the truck driver was only warned and sent away."

However, the public voiced their concern, questioning how senior Police officials could compromise a case involving the assault of a woman PSI on duty in public. Many expressed that a formal case should have been registered against the truck driver for obstructing a Government servant while on duty.

The KSRTC bus (KA-09-F-5111), which was ferrying passengers from M.M. Hills to Mysuru toppled at Aneholla in M.M. Hills after the bus driver lost control of the vehicle resulting in 14 passengers including bus driver Anil Kumar and conductor Jagadish sustaining injuries. Janivara row: HC issues notice to State Govt., KEA

Bengaluru, Apr. 27 (KMS&BS)- The High Court has issued a notice to the State Government and Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) over the controversy of removing the janivara (Sacred thread) of the candidates appearing for Common Entrance Test (CET).

Following a Public Interest Litigation (PIL) filed by Akhila Karnataka Brahmins Mahasabha (AKBMS), the HC Chief Justice N.V. Anjaria led bench which accepted the application, issued a notice to the Government and KEA, adjourning the case to June 9.

It may be mentioned that, the candidates wearing janivara were allowed inside the CET centres after forcibly cutting them, in the recently held CET for professional courses on Apr. 16 and 17 across the State, that had triggered a outrage among the community. Those who had raised objection to remove the thread, were not allowed to write CET.

CET results by May 20

The CET results are expected to be announced by May 20 to facilitate the process of admission of students to various professional courses. A total of 3.5 lakh students had appeared for exams and the evaluation of answer scripts has been completed. In all, 11.5 lakh OMR sheets have been uploaded on KEA website. In a first of its kind initiative, the students can access the answer script by uploading their centre name and student code. It is intended at clearing the doubts if any about the exam process among the students.

However, the KEA will have to wait till the results of II PUC exams-2 is announced, to declare CET results.
